

USER STORIES

Facilitator Requirements:

Nicole: Priority: High

As a facilitator I shall ensure proper communication between the development team and customer

Scenario 1: Due Date

The due date for the product has been provided and the software development team must have completed the product by the due date.

Scenario 2: Customer requirements

The requirements are specified during the meeting and the software development team is responsible for the negotiation and completing the final requirements

Software Developer Requirements:

Charles: Priority: High

I want proper communication and understanding between the team and customer

Scenario 1: Due Date

The due date provided by the customer is the 24th June, 2022, I want the development team to ensure that the product is ready by the deadline.

Scenario 2: Testing and Debugging

Given that the customer requires a debugged app or website, the development team must take it in their hands to ensure proper testing before releasing the product.

Customers Requirements Priority: Medium

Osasogie:

As a customer I do want my requirements to be understood and met by the development team

Scenario 1: Free trial

Regarding the free trial, I want the user to have the premium version of the website

I do not want any ads running on the website

Scenario 3: User-friendly Interface

The interface should be user-friendly because of the variation of the technological knowledge of individuals.

Scenario 4: Login System

As this part is crucial to the completion of this product, I want it to be tested by the development team.

End User Requirements Priority: Low

Nicole:

As the end user, I will regularly be giving the development team feedback

Scenario 1: Ad-free

I do not want any ads running on the website

Scenario 2: Bug-free

I want a smooth running website without bugs

Scenario 3: Feedback

I will be providing feedback to make the app better